

First Congregational Church Collection

c.1930-1987

*982 textual documents and one artifact;
one box (one linear foot)*

These manuscripts consist of the First Congregational Church’s documents, receipts, newsletters, bulletins and records dating from the 1930’s through the late 1980’s. The majority of the materials are bulletins and newsletters which announce the day’s service, prayers, psalms, as well as various activities, and meetings which would have occurred at the time. The bulletins also outline the Church’s business as fundraisers or special events that church either sponsored or took part in participating. Also, there are various receipts from utilities and miscellaneous expenses which the Church incurred at different times. Newspaper clippings of marriages, engagements, deaths, birthdays, and anniversaries offer an insight on various members of the Church as well as the different types of services which the First Congregational Church provided and/or offered.

The documents range from 1887 through 1997 with the bulk of material being dated through out the 1950’s, 1960’s, and 1970’s. There is only one document from Clergyman “Bud” Chester Luiginbil from 1982, but the majority of the materials are Newsletters and Bulletins.
